

OUTLOOK

News Opinion Features Sports Sustainable Life Classifieds Contact Us

 Search

Johnson named Coach of the Year

SPORTS BRIEFS – Mount Hood announces boys basketball all-stars, gymnasts win all-around titles

BY DAVID BALL

The Gresham Outlook, Mar 16, 2010

NGTC
Gymnasts
Receive Local Press!

FILE PHOTO

Barlow's Tom Johnson was named Mount Hood Conference Coach of the Year after leading the Bruins to second place in the league.

Barlow's Tom Johnson was named Mount Hood Conference Coach of the Year, while Central Catholic junior Will Bond earned Player of the Year honors.

The Bruins put two uniors on the first team in Brock Otis and Ryan Crouser, while Centennial senior Tyler Pannell and David Douglas junior Richard Seamster also made the list.

- Stinson claims the all-around title

Sarah Stinson won the Level 6 all-around title with a score of 36.325 (ages 10-12) at the Shamrock Invitational on Saturday, March 13, in Hillsboro. She won the vault (9.05), bars (9.25) and balance beam (9.15), while taking second in the floor exercise.

Teammate Kaitlyn King was third in the ages 13-and-older all around, winning the vault (9.5) and beam (8.950). The duo competes for Northwest Gymnastics in Gresham.

The Level 6 competition drew seven teams.

Paige Ortiz won the Level 4 all-around with a score of 37.750 (age 10), while teammates Skyler Tippin and Samantha Hayden finished second and third overall. Ortiz won the bars, beam and floor, while Tippin finished first in the vault.

Janina Jefferies (34.45) and Kelsey Funkhouser finished 1-2 in the Level 5 all-around with Jefferies winning the bars and Funkhouser winning the floor.